BAR AGITATORS FROM PROBE ON PROHIBITION

GREAT NATIONAL LEGAL INQUIRY BY PRES. HOOVER

EXAMINING TECHNICALITIES OF PRESENT JUDICIAL SYSTEM

MEMBERSHIP OF COMMISSION LARGELY ATTORNEYS OF NATIONAL REPUTATION

By PAUL R. MALLON
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Washington, March 11.—President Hoover intends to make his proposed prohibition investigation a great national inquiry into the technicalities of the present judicial system, it was learned today from one of his close friends with whom he has discussed the subject.

All wet and dry agitators are to be barred from the commission. Its membership will be made up largely of attorneys of national reputation, national economists and authorities in welfare work.

The efforts of the commission will be directed particularly to such problems as whether federal judges should pick juries and thus speed up the administration of justice, whether jurists may give their opinions to juries regarding evidence and facts in a case and other technical questions.

According to this course, the popular conception of the inquiry as an investigation of the workings of prohibition, is erroneous. There will be no attempt made to go into the question of whether prohibition is being enforced, how widely the law is being violated, or any of those questions into which congressional authorities investigating prohibition, have delved in the past.

The commission may sit in public and summon district attorneys, enforcement officials and judges as witnesses to advise as to what corrective measures are deemed necessary.

The commission will organize and begin work immediately and its report is expected to be ready by the time the regular session of congress convenes in December.

TWO MONKEYS KILL 350 PET CANARIES

New York, March 11.—(UP)—Two monkeys scattered about their cages in Henry Bartel's animal store today, with memories—flamingo have memories—of having spent a very pleasant Sunday until a lot of men with blue coats and brass buttons spoiled the fun.

They had just about finished killing their 350th canary, upset their tenth bowl of goldfish and were preparing to strangle a brilliant little parakeet when one of the blue-coated, brass buttoned men, Patrolman Bronlevan, pounded on the window of the store.

Undeterred by this interruption, the monkeys grimaced and gave an extra twist to the parakeet's neck. Bronlevan left and soon returned with Sergeant Lilley and a large force of firemen.

The door was forced open and after a chase of nearly two hours, the men captured the monkeys and returned them to the cages from which they had escaped.

POPE COMMENDED IN CONCILIATING CHURCH AND STATE IN ITALY

Rome, March 11.—(UP)—Vincenzo Cardinal Vennutelli presented Pope Pius XI today with an address signed by all cardinals present in Rome commending the Pope's action in effecting the conciliation between the church and the state in Italy.

The address was written on illuminated parchment and enclosed in a white leather case.

AMERICAN SAILOR PLUNGES TO DEATH FROM BURNING HOTEL

Hong Kong, March 11.—(UP)—An American sailor, Stephen Kish, plunged to his death from the upper stories of the burning King Edward hotel here early today, four other foreigners, including one woman, were burned to death and a number of persons were injured as flames swept the crowded building.

It was believed other bodies would be found in the ruins.

GEN. FRANK T. HINES IS REAPPOINTED HEAD OF VETERANS' BUREAU

Washington, March 11.—(UP)—Gen. Frank T. Hines, Utah, was reappointed today as director of the Veterans' bureau.

Along with other department heads, Hines had submitted his resignation to President Hoover. It was announced at the White House today that Hines would remain at his post permanently.

INTERNATIONAL BANK TO HANDLE WAR DEBT PAYMENTS

THE TENTATIVE PROPOSITION IS MADE BY OWEN D. YOUNG

BROUGHT UP BY CHAIRMAN OF REPARATIONS COMMITTEE OF EXPERTS

Paris, March 11.—(UP)—The proposed international bank to handle German "war debt" payments which would be the largest such institution ever established was tentatively framed by Owen D. Young, chairman of the reparations committee of experts, it was learned today.

The American financial wizard, whose personality has dominated the experts' conference during the last month, worked out and wrote the plan after seeking the advice of his colleague, J. Piermont Morgan, and the British delegates, Sir Josiah Stamp and Lord Revelstoke.

On the day when sub-committees submitted their reports on procedure of the committee, Young suggested that the best way to handle the reparations question was through a central organization rather than through separate bodies.

The delegates of the seven countries represented on the committee asked the American chairman to expand his idea and submit the plan in more concrete form.

Young discussed the more technical and delicate points of the plan for an international bank with Morgan and other delegates and then worked out his tentative plan which was made public Sunday, raising a proposed financial institution which since has been visualized as potentially one of the greatest stabilizing centers in the world and one of the strongest incentives to international peace.

The problem is still far from solved but with the tentative plan for an international bank it is believed the experts have completed the first step in efforts to transfer reparations and war debts from a ten-year-old political problem to something approximating non-political and peace time business organization.

TWO DOCTORS ARE ACCUSED OF OPERATING ON BOY WHILE DRUNK

Elizabethtown, Tenn., March 11.—(UP)—Two doctors, accused of operating on a 12-year-old boy while drunk, held their silence today while an aroused community waited arraignment of the two on charges of criminal negligence and intoxication.

Dr. W. H. Longmire and Dr. Murrell Pinson were released under nominal bond, while Coroner W. T. Ferguson continued his investigation into the death of Elbert Grindstaff, the boy who died after an operation for appendicitis. An autopsy made by two physicians called in by Ferguson was said to show the appendix had not been removed, and the organ itself was healthy.

Ferguson said he had evidence that Dr. Longmire and Dr. Pinson were intoxicated while they had the young boy on the operating table.

TWO READING HOTELS DESTROYED BY FIRE

Reading Pa., March 11.—(UP)—The Colonial and Belmont hotels in the central part of Reading were destroyed by fire today. Damage was estimated at $500,000. Two persons were injured when they jumped from windows. Thirty-five guests, trapped when fire ignited the stairways, were rescued by firemen.

Minnesota Senate and House May Have Open Break Soon In the Matter of Appropriations

EXPECTED TO SWELL TO FULL THROATED ROAR

DROWNING OUT PERHAPS BAB- COCK INVESTIGATIONS, HIGH- WAY SQUABBLE

PROPOSED CHANGES IN MOTOR VEHICLE LAWS AND OTHER MATTERS

By HECTOR PERRIER
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

St. Paul, March 11.—The ominous rumblings which for long have presaged an open break between the Minnesota senate and the house of representatives over appropriations, were expected to swell into a full-throated roar this week, drowning out perhaps the Babcock investigation, the highway squabble, the proposed changes in the motor vehicle laws.

The staunchly pro-administration house "threw down the gauntlet" in the budget tangle on Saturday when by a decisive vote it pared some $300,000 from the senate, board of control appropriations bill.

Representative R. W. Hitchcock, Hibbing, led the attack against the senate forces under the banner of Senator A. J. Rockne, Zumbrota, a veteran administration critic, and succeeded in having passed a $9,714,000 appropriations bill for state institutions.

The senate bill for $10,023,700 called for extensive additions to state institutions including two additional buildings for the feeble-minded at Faribault, two new cottages for the epileptics at Cambridge and a gymnasium for the deaf at Faribault.

These additions were recommended in the face of the adverse recommendations of the Big Three.

It was obvious that the house sided with Governor Theodore Christianson and the Big Three in an "economy" program which thus far has found little support in the senate.

The entire problem may only be ironed out by a "compromise" committee of both houses.

Meanwhile the "investigation" asked by Representatives Finstuen, Kenyon and Neuman, Wheaton, into the administration of State Highway Commissioner C. M. Babcock, rested in the house rules committee where a resolution toward that end was under consideration.

Finstuen and Neuman sought to learn Babcock's relationship with the Minnesota Good Roads Association which made an extensive pro-election drive last fall in the interest of the proposed $20,000,000 highway bond issue.

Babcock voluntarily declared last week that he was not nor had not been a member of the association.

Drastic changes in the state motor vehicle laws, to conform with the Hoover code of safety laws, were under consideration in senate and house committees.

The outstanding provisions of the proposed laws would require every motorist to establish financial responsibility for injury to persons and property and would require all drivers to be licensed.

In order to permit members to vote in local elections the house was adjourned until Wednesday. The senate, however, held its usual session today.

A bitter fight was expected before the matter was ironed out between the senate forces under the redoubtable Rockne and under Representative R. W. Hitchcock, Hibbing, in the house.

Four bills, two of which contained popular appeal, and one resolution were brought before the senate in today's session.

Senator Conrad Olson, St. Paul, introduced two of the bills, one to amend the state laws to prohibit the use of "plugs" in game fishing the other, designed to remove the mandatory provision requiring county attorneys to file abatement actions on liquor nuisances. Olson said the use of multi-hooked fishing equipment was "unsportsmanlike" and that plugs killed more fish than were caught.

Senator W. C. Zambone, Owatonna, introduced a bill which would require all passenger buses operated in Minnesota to have rear exits as safety provisions in case of accident or fire.

The senate passed a resolution introduced by Senator Chris Rosenmeier, Little Falls, which would provide for an interim commission to investigate the redistricting of judicial districts of the state. The resolution has the recommendation of the senate rules committee.

TRIAL OF GIEBHAIN, INDICTED ALDERMAN, TO BE OPENED TODAY

Minneapolis, March 11.—(UP)—Trial of Frank Giebhain, alderman indicted on charges of accepting a bribe, was scheduled to open today in Hennepin county district court.

Giebhain is the third member of the city council to stand trial in the aldermanic graft investigation here. Fred Maurer and John P. Ekberg, other aldermen, were convicted on bribery counts and sentenced to prison terms.

Twenty-one of 26 aldermen have been connected with the corruption investigation by a grand jury.

WOMAN CHARGED WITH SHOOTING OF A MINISTER

MRS. MARY GUERRIERI, 27, FACES CHARGE OF FIRST DEGREE MURDER

CHARGED WITH SLAYING REV. JOSEPH RICCARDI, 32, OF CANTON, OHIO

Canton, O., March 11.—(UP)—Mrs. Mary Guerrieri, 27, today faced a first degree murder charge for the fatal shooting of Rev. Joseph Riccardi, 32, as he concluded 8 o'clock mass Sunday morning in St. Anthony's Catholic church here.

Despite long questioning by police Mrs. Guerrieri still clung to her story—that she shot Father Riccardi for an alleged attack of her five-year-old daughter, Pamela.

As parishioners filed out of the church yesterday Father Riccardi was detained by Mrs. Guerrieri in the vestibule. A short conversation followed.

Five shots rang out and Father Riccardi crumpled to the floor.

He died last night.

Mrs. Guerrieri may have been the agent of others dissatisfied over Father Riccardi's activities in having the church removed from its old location to its present one which the priest believed more suitable. Bishop Joseph M. Schrembs of the Cleveland diocese said today after an investigation of the shooting.

Bishop Schrembs' statement and another by County Prosecutor Henry Harter refuted statements of Mrs. Guerrieri who said she killed the priest because he mistreated her small daughter.

FOUR MEN, FEARED LOST. ARE FOUND STRANDED ON KEY

Tampa, Fla., March 11.—(UP)—Four men, feared lost in a storm which disabled small boats Sunday, were found today stranded on a key in lower Tampa Bay. Their fishing boat had been swept ashore by the high wind.

Five other persons, who left Gulfport on a fishing trip early Sunday, were believed safe today in the shelter of a key near St. Petersburg, where they had put in to weather out the blow. They were Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Frierson, Fred Bowman, Knoxville, Tenn., and Mr. and Mrs. Monroe Beadrick, St. Petersburg.

The four Tampa men for whose safety fears had been felt were B. T. and E. C. Sewell, Edward Raskin and James Campbell.

BET OF 5 FRANCS WON 15,000 FRANCS AT NICE

Nice, France, March 11.—(UP)—A little bet of five francs—20 cents—won the neat sum of 15,000 francs in 20 minutes at baccarat, reports in Nice said today. The bet was placed by Phillip Dale, of Galveston, Texas, who made nine straight wins.

SEVERAL INJURED WHEN "L" ROAD TRAINS SMASH

ONE TRAIN STANDING AT A CHI- CAGO STATION, BUMPED BY ANOTHER

ACCIDENT OCCURRED AT MARSH- FIELD STATION ON GARFIELD PARK LINE

Chicago, March 11.—(UP)—Seven persons were injured today when two elevated trains collided at the Marshfield station on the Garfield Park line.

One train was standing at the platform when another train came up from behind and bumped into it. The injured were taken to hospitals. Neither train left the rails.

Chicago, March 11.—Twelve persons were taken to Cook county hospital and 20 others were treated at the scene of the accident today after two wooden cars had been wrecked in a rear-end collision on the Chicago elevated lines at the Marshfield station.

A Logan Square express train tumbled into the rear of a Humboldt Park train which was standing at the station, wrecking the rear of the latter train and the front car of the former.

LONE MAN WINS BATTLE AGAINST NORTHERN BLIZZARD

Winnipeg, Man., March 11.—(UP)—A desperate battle against a battering northern blizzard was won today by a lone man when R. L. Jones, colored postmaster-trapper of Duck's Bay, reached home after having been lost for four days on Lake Winnipegosis.

Jones, equipped only with one blanket, set out last mid-week with a team of horses for Duck's Bay from his fishing camp, 25 miles across the lake.

Four days and four nights he and his team were lashed by the blinding storm which arose soon after his departure and only after the wind and snow ceased was he able to make his way over the 25 miles to safety.

Memorial Services for Members of Senate Who Passed Away

St. Paul, March 11.—(UP)—Memorial services for members of the Minnesota senate who have died in the past two years will be held at 2 p. m. Tuesday in the senate chambers. The deceased members to be honored are former Senators Brooks, Minneapolis; Madigan, Maple Lake; Steen, Winona, and Day, Fairmont.

JURISTS MEET TO REVISE HAGUE COURT STATUTES

Geneva, March 11.—(UP)—The commission of international jurists for revision of The Hague court statutes met here today to consider Elhu Root's proposals for a formula that will permit the entry of the United States into the world court.

The Root project, which has been hailed by League leaders as virtually certain of success, would enable the world court signatories to accept the United States senate's fifth reservation, prohibiting the rendering of an advisory opinion on questions of special interest to America without the consent of the United States.

The project has been highly praised in League circles although there was some indication that it might meet opposition from Latin American members.

GOES STEADILY NORTHWARD WITH CRUSHING FORCE

LEADERS CONFIDENT DURANGO AND TORREON WILL FALL IN 24 HOURS

ANNOUNCED THAT THE REBEL FORCES ARE FLEEING OR DE- SERTING INSURGENTS

By G. F. FINE
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Mexico City, March 11.—The Mexican federal army pushed steadily northward with crushing force today, its leaders confident that the important rebel centers of Durango and Torreon would fall within the next 24 hours.

Rebel forces are fleeing or deserting insurgent leaders, the presidential announced.

Canitas, key city and important railroad junction in the state of Zacatecas, fell before Plutarco Elias Calles' army of 18,000 men without the firing of a shot.

One thousand rebels deserted their leaders and joined the federal forces outside Canitas last night. General Francisco Urbalio fled with a band of only thirty men.

"We expect complete success," Calles informed President Emilio Portes Gil.

"The rebellion is over in Vera Cruz and almost finished on the northern front," the government spokesman asserted.

The complete and bloodless federal victory at Canitas and the steady advance of federal columns erasing rebel forces at Durango and Torreon, led government officials to look upon Gen. Roberto Cruz in the state of Sinaloa as the most dangerous foe.

It was presumed that Calles plans to sweep clean the central northern area before swinging his rapidly growing army westward against the turbulent state of Sonora, home of Mexico's greatest military leaders including Calles himself.

Cruz, a clever and powerful leader, has advanced from Sonora to Culiacan on the west coast but has not yet attempted to take Mazatlan from the federals.

MEXICAN REBELS IN CONCERTED ATTACK

Nogales, Ariz., March 11.—Three columns of Mexican rebels converged on Mazatlan, Sinaloa, rich west Mexico seaport town, today for a concerted attack, General Francisco Borquez, revolutionary commander in Nogales, Sonora, just across the border, announced.

The rebel forces number about 5,000 men, General Borquez said, and the town is defended by about 2,500 federals under General Jaime Carrillo.

Chihuahua, southernmost state of Mexico, has flamed into revolt, General Borquez said. Two thousand federal soldiers mutinied against the government, Borquez declared.

General Amada Aguirre has joined in the revolt and now is advancing on Mazatlan across the Gulf of California with a shipload of 1,300 men, Borquez announced. The other columns, he said, are led by General Ramon Utrube and General Ricardo Topete.

General Borquez said the revolutionists planned to surround Mexico City after immediate objectives are captured and take the capital from the forces of President Portes Gil.

The rebels also laid plans to capture Tampico, center of the oil industry in Mexico and site of many American controlled oil wells.

Many citizens gathered in Catholic churches yesterday and prayed for rebel success. It was the first time since the central government closed the churches that the inhabitants had been able to attend mass in their own church.

(By United Press)

Mexican federal troops moved northward to attack the city of Torreon on the central northern front today as insurgent forces pushed steadily southward toward the west coast city of Mazatlan, state of Sinaloa.

Clashes at Torreon—in Coahuila state—and at Mazatlan were expected within the next 24 hours.

Meanwhile the federal govern-

JURISTS MEET TO REVISE HAGUE COURT STATUTES

Geneva, March 11.—(UP)—The commission of international jurists for revision of The Hague court statutes met here today to consider Elihu Root's proposals for a formula that will permit the entry of the United States into the world court.

The Root project, which has been hailed by League leaders as virtually certain of success, would enable the world court signatories to accept the United States senate's fifth reservation, prohibiting the rendering of an advisory opinion on questions of special interest to America without the consent of the United States.

The project has been highly praised in League circles although there was some indication that it might meet opposition from Latin American members.

GOES STEADILY NORTHWARD WITH CRUSHING FORCE

LEADERS CONFIDENT DURANGO
AND TORREON WILL FALL
IN 24 HOURS

ANNOUNCED THAT THE REBEL
FORCES ARE FLEEING OR DE-
SERTING INSURGENTS

By G. F. FINE
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Mexico City, March 11.—The Mexican federal army pushed steadily northward with crushing force today, its leaders confident that the important rebel centers of Durango and Torreon would fall within the next 24 hours.

Rebel forces are fleeing or deserting insurgent leaders, the presidential announced.

Canitas, key city and important railroad junction in the state of Zacatecas, fell before Plutarco Elias Calles' army of 18,000 men without the firing of a shot.

One thousand rebels deserted their leaders and joined the federal forces outside Canitas last night. General Francisco Urbaljo fled with a band of only thirty men.

"We expect complete success," Calles informed President Emilio Portes Gil.

"The rebellion is over in Vera Cruz and almost finished on the northern front," the government spokesman asserted.

The complete and bloodless federal victory at Canitas and the steady advance of federal columns are diminishing rebel forces at Durango and Torreon, led government officials to look upon Gen. Roberto Cruz in the state of Sinaloa as the most dangerous foe.

It was presumed that Calles plans to sweep clean the central northern area before swinging his rapidly growing army westward against the turbulent state of Sonora, home of Mexico's greatest military leaders including Calles himself.

Cruz, a clever and powerful leader, has advanced from Sonora to Culiacan on the west coast but has not yet attempted to take Mazatlan from the federals.

MEXICAN REBELS IN CONCERTED ATTACK

Nogales, Ariz., March 11.—Three columns of Mexican rebels converged on Mazatlan, Sinaloa, rich west Mexico seaport town, today for a concerted attack. General Francisco Borquez, revolutionary commander in Nogales, Sonora, just across the border, announced.

The rebel forces number about 5,000 men, General Borquez said, and the town is defended by about 2,500 federals under General Jaime Carrillo.

Chihuahua, southernmost state of Mexico, has flamed into revolt, General Borquez said. Two thousand federal soldiers mutinied against the government, Borquez declared.

General Amada Aguirre has joined in the revolt and now is advancing on Mazatlan across the Gulf of California with a shipload of 1,300 men, Borquez announced. The other columns, he said, are led by General Ramon Utrube and General Ricardo Topete.

General Borquez said the revolutionists planned to surround Mexico City after immediate objectives are captured and take the capital from the forces of President Portes Gil.

The rebels also laid plans to capture Tampico, center of the oil industry in Mexico and site of many American controlled oil wells.

Many citizens gathered in Catholic churches yesterday and prayed for rebel success. It was the first time since the central government closed the churches that the inhabitants had been able to attend mass in their own church.

(By United Press)

Mexican federal troops moved northward to attack the city of Torreon on the central northern front today as insurgent forces pushed steadily southward toward the west coast city of Mazatlan, state of Sinaloa.

Clashes at Torreon—in Coahuila state—and at Mazatlan were expected within the next 24 hours.

Meanwhile the federal government.

BRAINERD
25 YEARS AGO

From the Daily Dispatch

March 11, 1904

Mrs. L. M. Koop has rented the Gruenhagen store room now occupied by Z. E. McCullough as a billiard parlor, and will take possession March 20. Mr. McCullough has decided to close out his business in Brainerd.

"Wilder than a March hare" would be putting it mildly in describing the weather for a few hours this morning and seldom has there ever been such a storm in the history of this vicinity. It was not very cold and therefore it was not very disagreeable, but the wind blew a rather terrific gale and it snowed in sheets, several inches falling in an hour or two.

Miss Louise Keller, who has been visiting in the city with her sister Mrs. Beise, returned this afternoon to Sauk Centre.

Hon. A. L. Cole of Motley was in the city today. He, his wife and daughter, have just returned from Cuba where they have been sojourning for a short time, and Mr. Cole reports a most delightful time.

Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Whitford left today for Little Falls, where they will remain until Monday, when they will leave for Washington state to make their home in the future.

Mrs. L. M. Koop left today for the eastern markets. She was accompanied by her daughter Miss Lillian Koop.

John M. Bye has taken a position temporarily with L. J. Cale.

Little Edwin Blake, son of Mr. C. W. Eastman, who was taken to the N. P. sanitarium a few days ago will be operated on tomorrow by Dr. Courtney for appendicitis.

BIBLE STUDIES

First Meeting of Series Sunday Evening at Seventh Day Adventist Church

The first meeting of the series of Sunday night Bible studies at the Seventh Day Adventist church was well attended. The subject was: "The Problem of Sin and Its Remedy." "The Holy Scripture undertakes no demonstration of the reality of sin. Sin is a fact which can neither be controverted or denied, neither challenged nor obscured", were the opening remarks of Rev. Emil G. Sauer's sermon.

He further stated that sin is rebellion against God, an exchange from a high plain to a lower plain of living, a moral degradation, and that sin is death in the green and death is sin dead ripe. The study of the evening was taken up under three heads, "What Is Sin", "The Universality of Sin" and "The Remedy for Sin."

The pastor concluded his remarks by showing that Satan is a conqueror foe to the Christian, and God through the gift of His son Jesus Christ has made ample provision to save the greatest sinner from the clutches of the enemy.

Johnson-Johnson

Nels A. Johnson of Deerwood and Esther O. Johnson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Johnson of Clearwater Lake, were united in marriage this morning at the Clara Lutheran parsonage, Rev. August Samuelson, officiating. They were attended by Bori Johnson, a cousin of the bride, and Alma Johnson, a sister of the bridegroom.

They will make their home on a farm south of Deerwood.

Games and cards were enjoyed during the course of the evening, and at a late hour a delicious luncheon was served to about 35 guests. Miss Johnson was the recipient of many beautiful, and useful gifts.

BRAINERD 25 YEARS AGO

From the Daily Dispatch

March 11, 1904

Mrs. L. M. Koop has rented the Gruenhagen store room now occupied by Z. E. McCullough as a billiard parlor, and will take possession March 20. Mr. McCullough has decided to close out his business in Brainerd.

"Wilder than a March hare" would be putting it mildly in describing the weather for a few hours this morning and seldom has there ever been such a storm in the history of this vicinity. It was not very cold and therefore it was not very disagreeable, but the wind blew a rather terrific gale and it snowed in sheets, several inches falling in an hour or two.

Miss Louise Keller, who has been visiting in the city with her sister Mrs. Beise, returned this afternoon to Sauk Centre.

Hon. A. L. Cole of Motley was in the city today. He, his wife and daughter, have just returned from Cuba where they have been sojourning for a short time, and Mr. Cole reports a most delightful time.

Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Whitford left today for Little Falls, where they will remain until Monday, when they will leave for Washington state to make their home in the future.

Mrs. L. M. Koop left today for the eastern markets. She was accompanied by her daughter Miss Lillian Koop.

John M. Bye has taken a position temporarily with L. J. Cale.

Little Edwin Blake, son of Mr. C. W. Eastman, who was taken to the N. P. sanitarium a few days ago will be operated on tomorrow by Dr. Courtney for appendicitis.

BIBLE STUDIES

First Meeting of Series Sunday Evening at Seventh Day Adventist Church

The first meeting of the series of Sunday night Bible studies at the Seventh Day Adventist church was well attended. The subject was: "The Problem of Sin and Its Remedy." "The Holy Scripture undertakes no demonstration of the reality of sin. Sin is a fact which can neither be controverted or denied, neither challenged nor obscured," were the opening remarks of Rev. Emil G. Sauer's sermon.

He further stated that sin is rebellion against God, an exchange from a high plain to a lower plain of living, a moral degradation, and that sin is death in the green and death is sin dead ripe. The study of the evening was taken up under three heads, "What Is Sin", "The Universality of Sin" and "The Remedy for Sin."

The pastor concluded his remarks by showing that Satan is a conquered foe to the Christian, and God through the gift of His son Jesus Christ has made ample provision to save the greatest sinner from the clutches of the enemy.

Johnson-Johnson

Nels A. Johnson of Deerwood and Esther O. Johnson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Johnson of Clearwater Lake, were united in marriage this morning at the Clara Lutheran parsonage, Rev. August Samuelson, officiating. They were attended by Bert Johnson, a cousin of the bride, and Alma Johnson, a sister of the bridegroom.

They will make their home on a farm south of Deerwood.

Entertains at Luncheon

Mrs. Selma Fredstrom, of 807 So. Sixth street, entertained at a luncheon Sunday evening for Frank Paine, Miss Reinhardt and Miss Sharpless of St. Cloud and the Misses Carrie Erickson and Ethel Finne of Brainerd.

And the Lamp Went Out—A screamingly funny pantomime by five junior boys.

One Act Play, Her Aunt from California—Camp Fire Girls.

Sally (Bernice Steinfeldt) decides to play a joke on her two sisters (Mary Frances Graham and Clara Grimstad), who have refused to help her in her preparation for playing the part of Mrs. Malaprop. When the aunt (Evangeline Twist) sends a telegram saying that she cannot come, Sally impersonates her and utterly deceives them. When the real aunt arrives, the excitement begins.

The cast further includes:
Mrs. Neely—Lucille Wrobel.
Mrs. Wilcox—Mrs. the dressmaker—Helen Figue.
Maid—Margaret Casey.

URNS CAVE MAN AND WINS WIFE

HIS GIRL HAD ACCUSED HIM OF BEING ENTIRELY TOO QUIET

Chicago, March 11.—(UP)—The meek may eventually inherit the earth but Francis Neel didn't want to wait that long so he turned cave man and won a wife.

Francis, 25, mild-mannered and quiet, had a date Saturday night with Florence Golde, who likes her amusements modernistic.

"I won't have any fun tonight," Florence said. "You are too quiet."

"Too quiet, eh?" Francis growled. "Well, try this."

This was the act of seizing Florence by her marcelled locks and flinging her against the wall.

Francis followed with a pair of snappy uppercuts to her jaw and finished off the bout with a couple of slashes across her body with his pen knife. Then he picked her up and took her to a hospital.

"Oh, how I love him now," Florence said through bandages today. "I just liked him before. We'll be married today."

Francis didn't say no.

Impatient Griselda

by Dorothy Scarborough

WHAT HAS HAPPENED SO FAR.

FOR twenty years Irene Holden is a model wife for handsome Guinn Holden, Texas minister. Ever in love with him herself, Irene hopes to win his heart from the "gold and white ghost" of the beautiful dead Lilith, his first wife. Only the second Lilith, born at her mother's death, has full control of his affections. Tina, Lundy, Ross and Patricia, Irene's children by Holden, are always secondary. Tina, conscious of her foster sister's beauty and power, bears silently the humiliation of wearing her old clothes and using her old books in college. Lilith becomes engaged to Roger Devereux, son of wealthy Texas parents, but postpones her marriage to spend a year in New York with some money left her father. There she meets Vivien Winthrop, wealthy society girl, who introduces her to Bill Chester, scion of millions. Bill's fiancée, Sally Burton, is in Paris. When Irene wishes to spend the summer alone in New York Irene objects, but her father, as usual, lets her have her way. Bill, madly in love with the blonde beauty of Lilith, asks her to break her engagement to Roger. He writes Sally breaking his own. Then a cable from his grandfather commands him to meet the old man abroad and interrupts the ecstatic courtship with Lilith. Overcome by the power of love and the thought of separation, Lilith gives herself up to Bill. For two days they are together before he sails. Roger, receiving Lilith's letter, hastens to New York. In Paris, Bill is told by his grandfather that if he marries Lilith he will be left penniless.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

CHAPTER XLIX.

BILL stood in swirling silence for a moment, unable to speak. A little white and gold clock on the mantel ticked with incongruous lightness, and the dim roar of the city beat like far-off thunder on his ears.

The old man went. "I'm tired of this orgy of words. You will make up your mind, one way or the other, before you leave this room. You will promise to marry Sally Burton, by special license right away, or I am done with you."

"Grandfather!" came his awestricken voice.

This was a stranger he faced, this granite old man who had withstood his pleas, his arguments, through the days since he landed. Not the grumbling despot who had scolded but had always yielded in the end, unable to resist his gaiety, his appeals.

The old man went on inexorably. "You haven't a dollar to your name. You have extravagant tastes. Who'll pay your passage back to your princess? Who'll furnish the palace for you to keep her in?"

The boy turned to his mother, all his eager heart in his eyes. "Mother!" he cried, lifting his hands unconsciously in appeal.

But it was a parakeet, not a mother, that shrieked at him: "Don't expect me to back you—if you defy your grandfather! If you throw away your chances for a big success, don't think I'll give you a penny!"

He stiffened, as at a shock. Then he lifted his head proudly. "I won't ask either of you for a penny! I'll make my own living. I'll choose my own life."

The old man waved him to silence. "Don't be precipitate. Weigh the facts. Isn't it possible that the princess has an eye to your money?"

"No! she loves me!" Pride, exultation were in his voice.

"Will she care so much about a counter jumper, or a bill collector, at twenty dollars a week, say? And a girl who has as much charm as you say she has can easily get herself another sweetheart. Can you get another fortune?"

"But we love each other!" The words were wrenched from his heart.

"She knew you were engaged to Sally, didn't she?"

"Yes. What of it? She was engaged, too."

"Yet she led you on, when you were bound to Sally? What sort of honor is that?"

"She loved me . . . as I loved her!"

The grandfather's voice was gentler now, more persuasive. "It's easy for a poor girl to love a fortune, son. I've seen the world longer than you have. You can be sure Sally won't be marrying you for money or position. She has as much as—we have." There was pleading in the dull eyes.

"But I don't love Sally," he argued patiently.

"Think of your future," said the old man grimly. "If you marry Sally Burton, your son will one day be one of the richest men in the country. And one of the most powerful, if he has any brains."

"What does that matter to me?" cried Bill, in desperation. "I'd rather die than give up Lilith!"

He had a vision of Lilith as she a born sybarite. Would she face poverty with him? The future he had promised her had been an ease and luxury on another man's money. How would she feel when she knew he was a pauper? . . . He glimpsed himself a poor man, dropped from his clubs because he couldn't pay the dues . . . trudging about in shabby clothes . . . looking for jobs he wasn't trained to hold . . . borrowing money from his friends . . . slipping down the scale . . . beaten . . . discouraged . . . humiliated.

Was it a wild, mad dream to think he could defy the old man and make Lilith happy in poverty? Suppose she threw them over when she knew the facts?

But, no, her eyes reproached him.

His memory saw again a dell in the heart of the labyrinth, under the voodoo moon, haunted by ghost flowers and perfume and music. Lilith hadn't seemed to mind, in that mad moment in the labyrinth. And she had yielded joyously to those two days of love before he sailed. Was she . . . without scruples? Would she yield to some had waved him goodbye, tears in her eyes, but a gallant smile on her lips.

"It will matter a great deal to you one day, my boy. Every man in his heart longs for a son who'll grow up to be a better man than he is . . . Think of your future—your son's future. Will you make him a slave all his life—for your fancy now?"

"Think!" his grandfather said. "Think . . . think . . . think . . . the white and gold clock ticked lightly. But the young man's brain was so sick and whirling that he couldn't think. He could only see swift pictures of his sweetheart, sitting across the table from him; Lilith, dancing feather-light in his arms, to magical, dream-haunted music. To give her up? Never to see her again? How could he do it? No, no!

He faced his grandfather with fire, with resolution. "I can't do it, no matter what happens. That's all I have to say. The money's yours. Do what you damn please with it. I marry the girl I love!"

The old man gestured him to silence. "Wait a few minutes, my son, before you decide."

Then he remembered how gracefully Lilith had fitted into luxury, how she had said she was other man's caresses if he couldn't give her the wealth and beauty that she craved?

He gave a sharp cry and flung his hand against his forehead. The white-and-gold clock ticked quickly. "Time speeds away so fast!"

The old man lifted a haggard face to his. He looked suddenly older, frailer, a sick man. His voice was weak and heart-sick as he spoke.

"My son died. And the world hasn't been the same to me since. You are all I have left. . . I have never known how to tell you how I loved you . . ."

"You are my hope now . . . my dream . . . my all. If you dishonor me not even in the grave can I find peace!"

Tears stood in the dim old eyes. The gnarled, blue-veined hand that clutched the cane trembled.

Bill felt a sick nausea sweep over him. How could he stride to his happiness over the heart of an old man who had loved him so? He'd be like a murderer! Better to sacrifice himself, though he died for it! His shoulders slumped, his whole body sagged, his voice was like that of a corpse as he cried, "You win! I'll—marry Sally!"

MEXICAN FEDERAL ARMY COPES WITH REBEL BANDS

ment expressed complete confidence in a communique issued at Mexico City that the rebellion was rapidly nearing an end. The capital placed its trust in the power of Plutarco Elias Calles' army which was advancing steadily into rebel territory.

The government described the rebels as "completely routed" in Zacatecas after the fall of Canitas, where 1,000 rebels surrendered and joined the federals without firing a single shot.

The conflict in the Sonora region apparently was due to result in bloody fighting. The rebels were reported strongly entrenched and the column moving on Mazatlan appeared to have considerable strength.

Rebel leaders on the border claimed that Chiapas, a southern state, had joined the revolt, and was sending troops to support shattered rebel forces in the Isthmus region.

Stored Eggs Lose Weight

Unless the air in the room is neither too moist nor too dry, and the room is properly ventilated, eggs will lose in weight in cold storage on account of their tendency to evaporate through the shell.

NETOPPEW CAMP FIRE PROGRAM

One-Act Play "Her Aunt From California" Concludes Diversified Program

The Netoppew Camp Fire will present the following program on Tuesday evening, March 12, at 8 o'clock at the Old Court House:

Violin Solo—Victor Bourgeois.
Reading, Kentucky Philosophy—Bernice Steinfeldt.

Song, Danny Boy—Ethel Finne and Evelyn Fink.

Musical Reading, The Quarrel—Mary Hughey and Sigrid Stendal.

Trombone Solo—Howard Gile.
And the Lamp Went Out—A screamingly funny pantomime by five junior boys.

One Act Play, Her Aunt from California—Camp Fire Girls.

Sally (Bernice Steinfeldt) decides to play a joke on her two sisters (Mary Frances Graham and Clara Grimstad), who have refused to help her in her preparation for playing the part of Mrs. Malaprop. When the aunt (Evangeline Twist) sends a telegram saying that she cannot come, Sally impersonates her and utterly deceives them. When the real aunt arrives, the excitement begins.

The cast further includes:
Mrs. Needy—Lucille Wrobel.

Mrs. Wilcox—Mrs. the dressmaker—Helen Figue.

Maid—Margaret Casey.

URNS CAVE MAN AND WINS WIFE

HIS GIRL HAD ACCUSED HIM OF BEING ENTIRELY TOO QUIET

Chicago, March 11.—(UP)—The meek may eventually inherit the earth but Francis Nesel didn't want to wait that long so he turned cave man and won a wife.

Francis, 25, mild-mannered and quiet, had a date Saturday night with Florence Golde, who likes her amusements modernistic.

"I won't have any fun tonight," Florence said. "You are too quiet."

"Too quiet, eh?" Francis growled. "Well, try this."

This was the act of seizing Florence by her marcelled locks and flinging her against the wall.

Francis followed with a pair of snappy uppercuts to her jaw and finished off the bout with a couple of slashes across her body with his pen knife. Then he picked her up and took her to a hospital.

"Oh, how I love him now," Florence said through bandages today. "I just liked him before. We'll be married today."

Francis didn't say no.

Impatient Griselda

by Dorothy Scarborough

WHAT HAS HAPPENED SO FAR.

FOR twenty years Irene Holden is a model wife for handsome Guinn Holden, Texas minister. Ever in love with him herself, Irene hopes to win his heart from the "gold and white ghost" of the beautiful dead Lilith, his first wife. Only the second Lilith, born at her mother's death, has full control of his affections. Tina, Lundy, Ross and Patricia, Irene's children by Holden, are always secondary. Tina, conscious of her foster sister's beauty and power, bears silently the humiliation of wearing her old clothes and using her old books in college. Lilith becomes engaged to Roger Devereux, son of wealthy Texas parents, but postpones her marriage to spend a year in New York with some money left her father. There she meets Vivian Winthrop, wealthy society girl, who introduces her to Bill Chester, scion of millions. Bill's fiancée, Sally Burton, is in Paris. When Irene wishes to spend the summer alone in New York Irene objects, but her father, as usual, lets her have her way. Bill, madly in love with the blonde beauty of Lilith, asks her to break her engagement to Roger. He writes Sally breaking his own. Then a cable from his grandfather commands him to meet the old man abroad and interrupts the ecstatic courtship with Lilith. Overcome by the power of love and the thought of separation, Lilith gives herself up to Bill. For two days they are together before he sails. Roger, receiving Lilith's letter, hastens to New York. In Paris, Bill is told by his grandfather that if he marries Lilith he will be left penniless.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

CHAPTER XLIX.
BILL stood in swirling silence for a moment, unable to speak. A little white and gold clock on the mantel ticked with incongruous lightness, and the dim roar of the city beat like far-off thunder on his ears. The old man went. "I'm tired of this orgy of words. You will make up your mind one way or the other, before you leave this room. You will promise to marry Sally Burton, by special license, right away, or I am done with you."

"Grandfather!" came his awestricken voice.

This was a stranger he faced, this granite old man who had withstood his pleas, his arguments, through the days since he landed. Not the grumbling despot who had scolded but had always yielded in the end, unable to resist his gaiety, his appeals.

The old man went on inexorably. "You haven't a dollar to your name. You have extravagant tastes. Who'll pay your passage back to your princess? Who'll furnish the palace for you to keep her in?"

The boy turned to his mother, all his eager heart in his eyes. "Mother!" he cried, lifting his hands unconsciously in appeal.

But it was a parakeet, not a mother, that shrilled at him: "Don't expect me to back you—if you defy your grandfather! If you throw away your chances for a big success, don't think I'll give you a penny!"

He stiffened, as at a shock. Then he lifted his head proudly. "I won't ask either of you for a penny! I'll make my own living. I'll choose my own life."

The old man waved him to silence. "Don't be precipitate. Weigh the facts. Isn't it possible that the princess has an eye to your money?"

"No! she loves me!" Pride, exultation were in his voice.

"Will she care so much about a counter-jumper, or a bill collector, at twenty dollars a week, say? And a girl who has as much charm as you say she has can easily get herself another sweetheart. Can you get another fortune?"

"But we love each other!" The words were wrenched from his heart. "She knew you were engaged to Sally, didn't she?"

"Yes. What of it? She was engaged, too."

"Yet she led you on, when you were bound to Sally? What sort of honor is that?"

"She loved me . . . as I loved her!"

The grandfather's voice was gentler now, more persuasive. "It's easy for a poor girl to love a fortune, son. I've seen the world longer than you have. You can be sure Sally won't be marrying you for money or position. She has as much as we have." There was pleading in the dull eyes.

"But I don't love Sally," he argued patiently.

"Think of your future," said the old man grimly. "If you marry Sally Burton, your son will one day be one of the richest men in the country. And one of the most powerful, if he has any brains."

"What does that matter to me?" cried Bill, in desperation. "I'd rather die than give up Lilith!"

He had a vision of Lilith as she had waved him goodbye, tears in her eyes, but a gallant smile on her lips.

The old man went on, "You will promise to marry Sally Burton by special license here right away."

"It will matter a great deal to you one day, my boy. Every man in his heart longs for a son who'll grow up to be a better man than he is . . . Think of your future—your son's future. Will you make him a slave all his life—for your fancy now?"

"Think!" his grandfather said. "Think . . . think . . . think" the white and gold clock ticked lightly. But the young man's brain was so sick and whirling that he couldn't think. He could only feel. He could only see swift pictures of his sweetheart, sitting across the table from him; Lilith, dancing feather-light in his arms, to magical, dream-haunted music. To give her up? Never to see her again? How could he do it? No, no!

He faced his grandfather with fire, with resolution. "I can't do it, no matter what happens. That's all I have to say. The money's yours. Do what you damn please with it. I marry the girl I love!"

The old man gestured him to silence. "Wait a few minutes, my son, before you decide."

Then he remembered how gracefully Lilith had fitted into luxury, how she had said she was a born sybarite. Would she turn poverty with him? The future he had promised her had been so ease and luxury—on another man's money. How would she feel when she knew he was a pauper? . . . He glimpsed himself a poor man, dropped from his clubs because he couldn't pay the dues . . . trudging about in shabby clothes . . . looking for jobs he wasn't trained to hold . . . borrowing money from his friends . . . slipping down the scale . . . beaten . . . discouraged . . . humiliated.

Was it a wild, mad dream to think he could defy the old man and make Lilith happy in poverty? Suppose she threw them over when she knew the facts?

But, no, her eyes reproached him. . . .

His memory saw again a dell in the heart of the labyrinth, under the voodoo moon, haunted by ghost flowers and perfume and music. Lilith hadn't seemed to mind, in that mad moment in the labyrinth. And she had yielded joyously to those two days of love before he sailed. Was she . . . without scruples? Would she yield to some other man's caresses if he couldn't give her the wealth and beauty that she craved?

He gave a sharp cry and flung his hand against his forehead. The white-and-gold clock ticked quickly. "Time speeds away so fast!"

The old man lifted a haggard face to his. He looked suddenly older, frailer, a sick man. His voice was weak and heartsick as he spoke.

"My son died. And the world hasn't been the same to me since. You are all I have left. . . I have never known how to tell you how I loved you . . ."

"You are my hope now . . . my dream . . . my all. If you dishonor me not even in the grave can I find peace!"

Tears stood in the dim old eyes. The gnarled, blue-veined hand that clutched the cane trembled.

Bill felt a sick nausea sweep over him. How could he stride to his happiness over the heart of an old man who had loved him so? He'd be like a murderer! Better to sacrifice himself, though he died for it!

His shoulders slumped, his whole body sagged, his voice was like that of a corpse as he cried, "You win! I'll—marry Sally!"

MEXICAN FEDERAL ARMY COPE WITH REBEL BANDS

ment expressed complete confidence in a communique issued at Mexico City that the rebellion was rapidly nearing an end. The capital placed its trust in the power of Plutarco Elias Calles' army which was advancing steadily into rebel territory.

The government described the rebels as "completely routed" in Zacatecas after the fall of Canitas, where 1,000 rebels surrendered and joined the federals without firing a single shot.

The conflict in the Sonora region apparently was due to result in bloody fighting. The rebels were reported strongly entrenched and the column moving on Mazatlan appeared to have considerable strength.

Rebel leaders on the border claimed that Chiapas, a southern state, had joined the revolt, and was sending troops to support shattered rebel forces in the Isthmus region.

Unless the air in the room is neither too moist nor too dry, and the room is properly ventilated, eggs will lose in weight in cold storage on account of their tendency to evaporate through the shell.

LAND O' LAKES CREAMERIES MEETING

THE annual meeting of the Land O' Lakes Creameries, Incorporated, will open at Minneapolis Thursday and continue through Friday. Our local creamery, the Farmers Cooperative, makes butter which conforms to the Land O' Lakes standards and so will have representation at the meeting.

The eighth annual meeting of the organization which has 465 creameries in ten states will be attended by approximately 5,000 delegates. Representatives will come from Minnesota, Wisconsin, North and South Dakota, Iowa, Illinois, Missouri, Michigan, California and Idaho.

The opening session will begin at 9:30 a. m. Thursday with the call to order by John Brandt, president, Litchfield, Minn., to be followed by invocation by the Rev. W. G. Boyle, Mora, Minn. The address of welcome by the president and reports by the General Manager, A. J. McGuire, Emil G. Johnson, assistant treasurer, and H. F. Meyer, director of sales will constitute the major portion of the morning meeting. A committee on resolutions will be in session between 8 and 9:30 a. m. to receive material for its consideration.

The president's annual address will feature the afternoon session which will also be marked with speeches by Dean W. C. Coffey, college of agriculture of the University of Minnesota, and Chris L. Christensen, U. S. Department of Agriculture. Vaudeville entertainment, community singing and an inspection of the Land O' Lakes building will also be a part of the program.

The Thursday evening session will be devoted chiefly to entertainment with such feature artists as Ramona Gerhard, Jerry Harrington and Wally Erickson and his orchestra of WCCO on the program. W. I. Nolan, Lieutenant Governor, will deliver the only address of the evening.

Charles W. Holman, secretary, National Co-operative Milk Producing Federation, Washington, D. C., and Dean C. Larson, college of agriculture, Brookings, S. D., will lead the speakers of the Friday morning session. A Boys' and Girls' Club demonstration will be given by two members of the club.

The business session Friday afternoon will hear reports on committees and will elect new directors. A general business discussion and presentation of newly elected directors will close the meeting.

OUR WINTER SNOWFALL

THE snowfall has been light at Brainerd this winter. The only accurate way to measure snowfall is to reduce the snow to water and measure the water. Snow is never of the same density. Some is light and fluffy, other falls are heavy and sticky. The latter kind, of course, carries the most moisture.

During the period that snow fell this winter the precipitation reduced to moisture was 2.47 inches and this covered 0.15 inch in November, 1.00 inch in December, 0.92 inch in January and 0.23 inch in February. March to date has brought 0.17 inch. This makes a total of 2.47 inches.

Here is a comparison with past winters. It may be noted that snow some winters covered a period of six months.

Five months from and including November 1, 1917, 1.00 inch.
Four months from and including December 1, 1918, 4.02 inches.

Seven months from and including October 1, 1919, 7.03 inches.

Five months from and including November 1, 1920, 6.53 inches.

Five months from and including November 1, 1921, 8.58 inches.

Six months from and including November 1, 1922, 5.88 inches.

Six months from and including November 1, 1923, 3.54 inches.

Five months from and including November 1, 1924, 1.87 inches.

Six months from and including October 1, 1925, 3.65 inches.

Six months from and including October 1, 1926, 5.53 inches.

Six months from and including November 1, 1927, 5.18 inches.

The present winter with its moderate snowfall finds similar conditions in the winters of 1917 with 1.00 inch and 1924 with 1.87 inches.

CONSTRUCTIVE CRITICISM

THERE is a great deal of difference between criticism of the destroying kind, and the constructive kind. This world is not perfect by any means nor are we, who live here, perfect. Neither can our government nor the many other relations established by society, be perfect.

Helpful criticism, properly announced, can be as assistance. Of course, we are also aware that the man who constantly gives advice, can also become a great bore.

Some people are of an iconoclastic frame of mind, they wish to do away with certain established institutions. They are like the child armed with a hammer who tackles a piano and quickly puts in dents in the surface but assuredly does not improve tone or appearance of the instrument. Mere reduction of some institution without anything to take its place reduces little in the way of real progress.

Our city may be deficient in some things. A helpful spirit will do more to remedy conditions than constant harping criticism which offers no constructive medium.

Harping criticism is no more relished by the public than constant nagging by a married man.

OUR CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

THE Chamber of Commerce meets Wednesday, March 13. Important matters concerning the community are to be considered. Members should attend and visitors are always welcome.

With such a wide program in community matters mapped out, it is surprising that no meeting was held late in February. Our interest in any institution like a Chamber of Commerce should be permanent and not varying in intensity.

Problems in city development are always with us.

Milk Leads as Food

Almost one-quarter—24.3 cents—of every dollar spent by Americans for food goes for the purchase of milk and milk products, statistics show. This explains why such great precautions are taken to safeguard quality and purity of milk.

Phrase Is Ancient

No one knows who said "See Naples and die" first. It is an Italian proverb coined by some Neapolitan publicist centuries ago before the profession of city advertising brought honor. In Italian it goes: Vedi Napoli, e poi muori.

May Become Ruler of Britain

Against his will, the Prince of Wales will probably be created regent within the next month, as it becomes increasingly apparent that his father, King George V., will never recover his health sufficiently to resume his duties as ruler of the British Empire. Impending events, including the dissolution of Parliament, formation of a new government after elections, and the usual address from the throne on the opening of the new parliament, make such a step virtually imperative.

Will Lead Green

Jackson L. Cannell, above, will take over the job of football coach at Dartmouth College following the resignation of Jesse Hawley, Green mentor, who is forced out of the game by pressure of business.

Favor American Machetes

Machetes, heavy knives which originated in the tropics and were widely used in South America for virtually every conceivable cutting purpose, are most popular in Brazil when of American make. About 1,500 are bought monthly and hardware dealers stock sharp, clean machetes imported from the United States.

Groom for Every Horse

The royal stables of the shah of Persia are located in the province of Mazandaran, where a large establishment is maintained for the accommodation of the animals. Each horse has its individual attendant and the animal is as carefully coddled as any child. The cost of maintaining this establishment is enormous.

LAND O' LAKES CREAMERIES MEETING

THE annual meeting of the Land O' Lakes Creameries, Incorporated, will open at Minneapolis Thursday and continue through Friday. Our local creamery, the Farmers Cooperative, makes butter which conforms to the Land O' Lakes standards and so will have representation at the meeting.

The eighth annual meeting of the organization which has 465 creameries in ten states will be attended by approximately 5,000 delegates. Representatives will come from Minnesota, Wisconsin, North and South Dakota, Iowa, Illinois, Missouri, Michigan, California and Idaho.

The opening session will begin at 9:30 a. m. Thursday with the call to order by John Brandt, president, Litchfield, Minn., to be followed by invocation by the Rev. W. G. Boyle, Mora, Minn. The address of welcome by the president and reports by the General Manager, A. J. McGuire, Emil G. Johnson, assistant treasurer, and H. F. Meyer, director of sales will constitute the major portion of the morning meeting. A committee on resolutions will be in session between 8 and 9:30 a. m. to receive material for its consideration.

The president's annual address will feature the afternoon session which will also be marked with speeches by Dean W. C. Coffey, college of agriculture of the University of Minnesota, and Chris L. Christensen, U. S. Department of Agriculture. Vaudeville entertainment, community singing and an inspection of the Land O' Lakes building will also be a part of the program.

The Thursday evening session will be devoted chiefly to entertainment with such feature artists as Ramona Gerhard, Jerry Harrington and Wally Erickson and his orchestra of WCCO on the program. W. I. Nolan, Lieutenant Governor, will deliver the only address of the evening.

Charles W. Holman, secretary, National Co-operative Milk Producing Federation, Washington, D. C., and Dean C. Larson, college of agriculture, Brookings, S. D., will lead the speakers of the Friday morning session. A Boys' and Girls' Club demonstration will be given by two members of the club.

The business session Friday afternoon will hear reports on committees and will elect new directors. A general business discussion and presentation of newly elected directors will close the meeting.

OUR WINTER SNOWFALL

THE snowfall has been light at Brainerd this winter. The only accurate way to measure snowfall is to reduce the snow to water and measure the water. Snow is never of the same density. Some is light and fluffy, other falls are heavy and sticky. The latter kind, of course, carries the most moisture.

During the period that snow fell this winter the precipitation reduced to moisture was 2.47 inches and this covered 0.15 inch in November, 1.00 inch in December, 0.92 inch in January and 0.23 inch in February. March to date has brought 0.17 inch. This makes a total of 2.47 inches.

Here is a comparison with past winters. It may be noted that snow some winters covered a period of six months.

Five months from and including November 1, 1917, 1.00 inch.

Four months from and including December 1, 1918, 4.02 inches.

Seven months from and including October 1, 1919, 7.03 inches.

Five months from and including November 1, 1920, 6.53 inches.

Five months from and including November 1, 1921, 8.58 inches.

Six months from and including November 1, 1922, 5.88 inches.

Six months from and including November 1, 1923, 3.54 inches.

Five months from and including November 1, 1924, 1.87 inches.

Six months from and including October 1, 1925, 3.65 inches.

Six months from and including October 1, 1926, 5.53 inches.

Six months from and including November 1, 1927, 5.18 inches.

The present winter with its moderate snowfall finds similar conditions in the winters of 1917 with 1.00 inch and 1924 with 1.87 inches.

CONSTRUCTIVE CRITICISM

THERE is a great deal of difference between criticism of the destroying kind, and the constructive kind. This world is not perfect by any means nor are we, who live here, perfect. Neither can our government nor the many other relations established by society, be perfect.

Helpful criticism, properly announced, can be as assistance. Of course, we are also aware that the man who constantly gives advice, can also become a great bore.

Some people are of an iconoclastic frame of mind, they wish to do away with certain established institutions. They are like the child armed with a hammer who tackles a piano and quickly puts in dents in the surface but assuredly does not improve tone or appearance of the instrument. Mere reduction of some institution without anything to take its place records little in the way of real progress.

Our city may be deficient in some things. A helpful spirit will do more to remedy conditions than constant harping criticism which offers no constructive medium.

Harping criticism is no more relished by the public than constant nagging by a married man.

OUR CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

THE Chamber of Commerce meets Wednesday, March 13. Important matters concerning the community are to be considered. Members should attend and visitors are always welcome.

With such a wide program in community matters mapped out, it is surprising that no meeting was held late in February. Our interest in any institution like a Chamber of Commerce should be permanent and not varying in intensity.

Problems in city development are always with us.

Milk Leads as Food

Almost one-quarter—24.8 cents—of every dollar spent by Americans for food goes for the purchase of milk and milk products, statistics show. This explains why such great precautions are taken to safeguard quality and purity of milk.

Phrase Is Ancient.

No one knows who said "See Naples and die" first. It is an Italian proverb coined by some Neapolitan publicist centuries ago before the profession of city advertising brought honor. In Italian it goes: Vedi Napoli, e poi muori.

May Become Ruler of Britain

Against his will, the Prince of Wales will probably be created regent within the next month, as it becomes increasingly apparent that his father, King George V, will never recover his health sufficiently to resume his duties as ruler of the British Empire. Impending events, including the dissolution of Parliament, formation of a new government after elections, and the usual address from the throne on the opening of the new parliament, make such a step virtually imperative.

PIONEER OF GOLDEN WEST, 96, DIES HERE

James Carroll Reaped Fortune in California in Early Days, Traded With Indians

LIVED HERE 13 YEARS

Lived Through Life in Single Blessedness. Never Ill and Always Happy

James Carroll who lived to see the ripe old age of 96 years, 8 months and 26 days, who was not ill one day in his life, who went through life in single blessedness, a typical pioneer of the Golden West who took knocks and his fortune with a smile passed away last evening at the home of his nieces, Misses Mary and Catherine Lynch, 322 9th street, north.

He met death in the same manner he encountered life with a smile. Shaking hands with relatives here and wishing them all the luck in the world he passed on to a life of another adventure in another sphere.

James Carroll's life contains a panorama of the pioneer of the Golden West, a strong man who never called "quits", a man who came out of a story book series of adventures of early California a rich man.

Carroll saw life and made his fortune in the pioneer days of California by trading with the Indians from Washington to the most southern point in California. After ranching many years he became well to do and came to Brainerd 13 years ago to settle down with relatives here.

Relatives here state that not once did Carroll regret the fact that he had never married. He saw life through rose colored glasses. He knew no grudges and never admitted a misfortune.

He had an iron constitution that remained with him throughout life even to within a few weeks of his death. He was last down town in Brainerd in December when he walked alone without the aid of a cane. On that occasion he fell twice and picked himself up with a smile. He knew that the remainder of his life would be short so he continued to make life for himself as well as his relatives and friends as pleasant as he could.

Mr. Carroll was born in Java, N. Y. on June 14, 1832. When a youth he ran away from home to seek his fortune in the west. His life proves that he found success and happiness there.

Surviving are four nieces and five nephews, Mary, Catherine and Matt Lynch of Brainerd, R. P. Lynch of Belle Plaine, Minn., J. C. Lynch of Milwaukee, Wis., C. E. Lynch of Hoquiam, Wash., Elizabeth and Cecilia Cremin of New York City and James Graham of Santa Cruz, California.

The body will be shipped Wednesday morning to Belle Plaine for burial.

MIAMI IS PROSPEROUS

E. J. Golemboske, Brainerd Man, Writes of Florida City

The following is a letter which the Dispatch received from E. J. Golemboske of Miami, Fla., who is well known in Brainerd, in which he gives his change of address, stating he does not wish to miss any of the Dispatch numbers. He also gives an interesting account of activities in Miami, which we believe will be of interest to our readers. The letter follows:

"We are just beginning to finish one of the most successful seasons in the history of the city of Miami. This year has found Miami ready to accommodate and entertain her seasonal visitors and hundreds of new visitors who will return again. Miami has paid her obligation to tens of thousands of people who came seeking pleasure and enjoyment and has satisfied their whim through the efforts of such able men as the late Tex Rickard, Jack Dempsey, Joe Smoot of the Jockey club, Glenn Curtiss of aviation history and many others who through their co-operation with the members of the various state and municipal authorities have truly made Miami the mecca of the world's playgrounds. We were honored by the presence of such men as Mr. Hoover, Al Smith and many other men of great national importance and leaders in great industrial corporations who came to play on the sunny strand of Miami Beach and forget the rigors of winter.

Trusting that Brainerd and the lake region may enjoy an equal prosperity during the coming summer season and that the Brainerd Daily Dispatch will not be overlooked in the coming season of prosperity, I beg to remain, very truly yours."

Protested Stamp Act

The stamp act was passed by the British parliament on January 10, 1765. Under this law, the Colonists were compelled to place stamps on all commercial and legal documents. It was repealed in 1766, however, when the Colonists protested.

JAIL LAKE

Miss Glorene Glover spent Saturday afternoon with her friend Miss Jarmolen Tollefsrud.

Donald and Eugene Glover also Raymond Van Kempen were business callers Saturday.

Everybody is looking for a place to trap. Trapping is not going good this season as the weather is too cold.

Miss Lillian Tollefsrud, Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Oleson and little daughter Marvel, took supper at the Ole Tollefsrud home Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Jokela spent Wednesday with the Oscar Seatures.

Bill McCallister is trapping over the Tollefsrud way, he took dinner with them Saturday.

Those helping Mrs. Martha Glover celebrate her 70th birthday Friday evening were Mr. and Mrs. Boyan Kempen and family, Mr. and Mrs. Leon Glover and family and Mrs. Glenn Glover and family. All reported a good time.

Arnold Hanson called at the G. A. Glover home Friday evening.

Harold Tollefsrud was a Pine River caller Friday. Charlie Hardy and Charlie Koppe and aunt were callers Saturday.

Charlie Koppe called at the Glenn Glover home Monday evening.

The Professor Again

Every time the bell on his typewriter tinkles the absent-minded professor writes "Come in!"

WRAPPED AROUND A POLE

One often hears warnings to drivers not to wrap themselves around a post, but one rarely sees it done. William Casey, 49, Chicago, lost control of his car and wrapped it around this lamp post. Casey suffered a fractured skull.

CAMP FIRE GIRLS ACTIVITIES

The Old Fashioned Bouquet group of Bluebirds never enjoyed anything more than the Grand Council Fire of the Camp Fire Girls.

They appreciated being invited to attend it and they were glad to have a part in it, too.

They are all glad that next year they can be Camp Fire girls.

Monday the Bluebirds are going to sew for their dolls and plan for their part in the Camp Fire birthday exhibit.

The Old Fashioned Bouquet would like to extend an invitation to the newly made Firemakers, Wichala and Nisimaha, to come to their meetings at any time, that these Firemakers may earn their requirements for Torch Bearer as Guide or Torch Bearer as Craftsman.

Camp Waditaka held a sleigh ride party Saturday evening, March 2nd. After riding through the up town and residential districts for an hour and a half the group adjourned to the home of Anna Cass.

The evening was spent in playing buncos after which a delicious lunch was served.

On Wednesday a meeting was held at the Lincoln school. The following program was given:

Song—Onward We Go With a Song.
Credo.
Pledge Allegiance to flag.
Song—Ma'mmy Moone.

A five minute talk on Camp Fire was given by Anna Cass. The following girls spoke on the life of Clara Barton—Joyce Smith, Astrid Engstrom. The life of Harriet Beecher Stowe was discussed by Marie MacPherson. After the meeting we made posters illustrating the seven laws of Camp Fire. Scribe—Marie MacPherson.

The Chitaya Camp Fire met Wednesday. After a short meeting we gave first aid demonstrations and each girl tied a square knot five times. Scribe—Arlene Benson.

The Oawensa Camp Fire met in the guardian's room Monday, March 4, 1929. We planned for the Camp Fire birthday. Ione Cass gave a very interesting talk on Louise May Alcott. We held a special meeting Tuesday, March 7, 1929. We worked for the honors 804 handicraft which is: "Know How to Hem, Overcast, Backstitch, Buttonhole, Featherstitch, and Blanketstitch. 1105 Handicraft which is "Dress Doll" Make Picture Books or Toys and send to hospitals, and settlements where they are wanted. Scribe—Marcella Favron.

The week beginning March 17th is the seventeenth birthday of the Camp Fire Girls' organization. The six local groups are busy planning an exhibit which they expect to place in the windows of downtown stores. This exhibit will portray some of the activities of the Camp Fire Girls and will show how honor beads are earned in the various crafts.

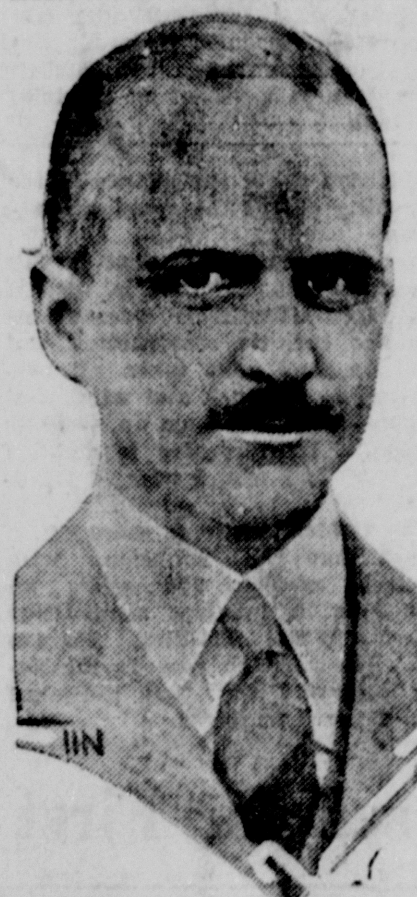

The watchword of the Camp Fire Girls is Wohelo—a word made from the first two letters of work, health and love. In twenty-two different countries throughout the world, hundreds of thousands of Camp Fire Girls are carrying out the program of Wohelo. They, too, are planning in various ways to celebrate the birthday of the organization.

Buster Keaton in "The Camera Man"

"The Cameraman," Buster Keaton's latest comedy starring vehicle, is the attraction at the Lyceum Theatre tonight and Tuesday, when the frozen-faced comedian will be seen in Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's hilarious account of the adventures of an apprentice newsreel cameraman in New York.

Has Care of President

The health of President Hoover is in the hands of Lieut. Commander Joel T. Boone, medical officer aboard the presidential yacht Mayflower since 1922. He will serve the President as personal physician, succeeding Col. James F. Coupal, former President Coolidge's physician, in the White House.

Harry Schwendeman, 22, Passed Away Yesterday Afternoon After Short Illness

DIED FROM PNEUMONIA

Was Previously Ill With Scarlet Fever; Leaves Parents, 3 Brothers and 1 Sister

Harry Schwendeman, aged 22, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Schwendeman, 1500 Mill street N. E., passed away yesterday afternoon from pneumonia. The youth had been sick only ten days.

The pneumonia attack followed scarlet fever.

Mr. Schwendeman was born in Brainerd and attended schools here.

Besides his parents he leaves three brothers, William, Clarence and Albert and one sister Miss Delores, all of Brainerd.

RADIO CLUB TO MEET WEDNESDAY

All Radio Owners Interested in Better Reception Urged to Attend

There will be a meeting of the Brainerd Radio club at the Farmers room of the court house next Wednesday evening, March 13 at 8 o'clock, and all members of the club are urgently requested to make a special effort to be present. It is also requested that all persons having radios, whether members of the club or not, to try and be present as it is hoped to have a general discussion on the matter of better clearance of the present radio interference in the city of Brainerd.

There has been considerable complaint that perhaps the Radio Club has not accomplished as much as was desired toward the elimination of radio interference of various kinds and it is the desire of those who have been most active along this line on behalf of the club that the matter be thoroughly discussed at this coming meeting, and any suggestions whatsoever will be gratefully received. Practically all of the efforts of the club along this line have been left to a few of the members and although they have been doing everything possible there is yet much to be accomplished and it is felt that no doubt there are others in the club who would be able to do away with some of the present troubles and at less expense to the club than is being incurred at the present time. All are urged to come to this meeting and state grievances and make suggestions so that they may be acted upon and perhaps something of real value accomplished.

PIONEER OF GOLDEN WEST, 96, DIES HERE

James Carroll Reaped Fortune in California in Early Days, Traded With Indians

LIVED HERE 13 YEARS

Lived Through Life in Simple Blessedness. Never Ill and Always Happy

James Carroll who lived to see the ripe old age of 96 years, 8 months and 26 days, who was not ill one day in his life, who went through life in single blessedness, a typical pioneer of the Golden West who took knocks and his fortune with a smile passed away last evening at the home of his nieces, Misses Mary and Catherine Lynch, 322 9th street, north.

He met death in the same manner he encountered life with a smile. Shaking hands with relatives here and wishing them all the luck in the world he passed on to a life of another adventure in another sphere.

James Carroll's life contains a panorama of the pioneer of the Golden West, a strong man who never called "quits", a man who came out of a story book series of adventures of early California a rich man.

Carroll saw life and made his fortune in the pioneer days of California by trading with the Indians from Washington to the most southern point in California. After ranching many years he became well to do and came to Brainerd 13 years ago to settle down with relatives here.

Relatives here state that not once did Carroll regret the fact that he had never married. He saw life through rose colored glasses. He knew no grudges and never admitted a misfortune.

He had an iron constitution that remained with him throughout his life even to within a few weeks of his death. He was last down town in Brainerd in December when he walked alone without the aid of a cane. On that occasion he fell twice and picked himself up with a smile. He knew that the remainder of his life would be short so he continued to make life for himself as well as his relatives and friends as pleasant as he could.

Mr. Carroll was born in Java, N. Y. on June 14, 1832. When a youth he ran away from home to seek his fortune in the west. His life proves that he found success and happiness there.

Surviving are four nieces and five nephews, Mary, Catherine and Matt Lynch of Brainerd, R. P. Lynch of Belle Plaine, Minn., J. C. Lynch, of Milwaukee, Wis., C. E. Lynch of Hoquiam, Wash., Elizabeth and Cecilia Cremin of New York City and James Graham of Santa Cruz, California.

The body will be shipped Wednesday morning to Belle Plaine for burial.

MIAMI IS PROSPEROUS

E. J. Golemboske, Brainerd Man, Writes of Florida City

The following is a letter which the Dispatch received from E. J. Golemboske of Miami, Fla., who is well known in Brainerd, in which he gives his change of address, stating he does not wish to miss any of the Dispatch numbers. He also gives an interesting account of activities in Miami, which we believe will be of interest to our readers. The letter follows:

"We are just beginning to finish one of the most successful seasons in the history of the city of Miami. This year has found Miami ready to accommodate and entertain her seasonal visitors and hundreds of new visitors who will return again. Miami has paid her obligation to tens of thousands of people who came seeking pleasure and enjoyment and has satisfied their whim through the efforts of such able men as the late Tex Rickard, Jack Dempsey, Joe Smoot of the Jockey club, Glenn Curtiss of aviation history and many others who through their co-operation with the members of the various state and municipal authorities have truly made Miami the mecca of the world's playgrounds. We were honored by the presence of such men as Mr. Hoover, Al Smith and many other men of great national importance and leaders in great industrial corporations who came to play on the sunny strand of Miami Beach and forget the rigors of winter.

Trusting that Brainerd and the lake region may enjoy an equal prosperity during the coming summer season and that the Brainerd Daily Dispatch will not be overlooked in the coming season of prosperity, I beg to remain, very truly yours."

Protested Stamp Act

The stamp act was passed by the British parliament on January 10, 1765. Under this law, the Colonists were compelled to place stamps on all commercial and legal documents. It was repealed in 1766, however, when the Colonists protested.

DESPITE FACT THAT NO AMERICAN LEAGUE CLUB HAS WON 4 PENNANTS IN ROW

PRESENCE OF ROGERS HORNSBY GIVES ADDED STRENGTH TO THE CUBS

By GEORGE KIRKSEY
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
New York, March 11.—(UP)—The New York Yankees and Chicago Cubs have been made favorites in the early betting on the major league pennant races.
Despite the fact that no American League club has ever won four pennants in a row, betting commissioners are quoting the Yankees an even money choice to accomplish that feat this season.

The presence of Rogers Hornsby, National League batting champion, with the Cubs has caused Joe McCarthy's team to receive an unprecedented amount of support for a third place team of a year ago. Odds of 3 to 2 are quoted against the Cubs to finish first and 1 to 2 that they finish one-two.

The St. Louis Cardinals, New York Giants and Pittsburgh Pirates are even choice, with odds of 2 1/2 to 1 quoted that they don't win the pennant and even money that they don't finish first or second.

The Philadelphia Athletics are second choice in the American League at odds of 5 to 4. The odds quoted against the St. Louis Browns are 8-1 for first, 5-2 for second and even money for third. The Detroit Tigers are quoted 15-1 shots.

The longest odds are quoted against the Philadelphia Phillies—100 to 1 they don't finish first, 40-1 they don't finish second and 10-1 they don't finish third.

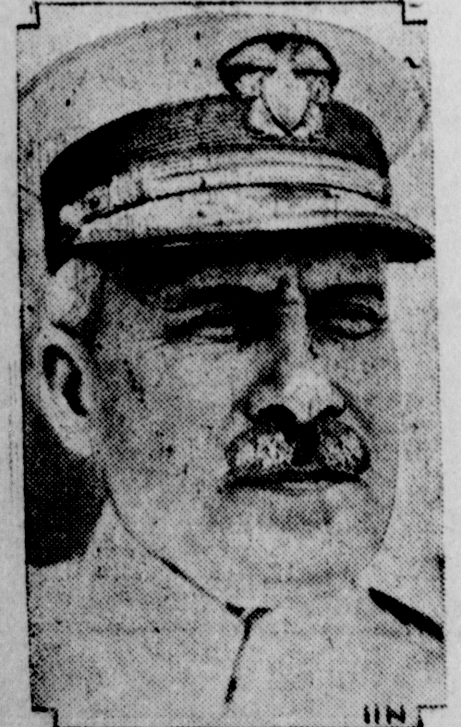

The odds follow:

National League
Club		Odds
Cubs	3-2
Giants	2 1/2-1
Pirates	2 1/2-1
Cardinals	2 1/2-1
Reds	8-1
Braves	40-1

77 UNIVERSITIES TO SEND OVER 800 ATHLETES

TO COMPETE IN 12TH ANNUAL INDOOR RELAY CAR-NIVAL

SPONSORED BY UNIVERSITY OF ILLINOIS SATURDAY AT CHAMPAIGN

Champaign, Ill., March 11.—(UP)—Seventy-seven universities will send more than 800 athletes to compete in the twelfth annual indoor relay carnival of the University of Illinois to be held here Saturday.

The entry list, the largest ever received, includes athletes from every school in the Big Ten, Big Six, and Missouri Valley conferences.

The all around championship, feature event of the carnival, will find the greatest athletes in the country competing. Among the entries for this event are Barney Berlinger, University of Pennsylvania, Jack McIntosh, Monmouth college, last year's winner; Leo Baldwin, University of Texas; Oscar Smith, Indiana Central, and several others.

The all around championship consists of the 75 yard dash; shot put, running high jump, pole vault, 75 yard high hurdles, running broad jump and 880 yard run.

Nine university relays will be held during the meet.

Sarasota, Fla., March 11.—(UP)—After playing his first game while wearing spectacles, Outfielder Chick Hafey said today he expected to wear them throughout the season. "My glasses helped my vision considerably yesterday," Hafey said. Home runs by Wattle Holm and rookies Delker and Pepper helped the Cardinals defeat the Indianapolis American association club yesterday, 11 to 7.

St. Petersburg, Fla., March 11.—(UP)—The Boston Braves were scheduled to open their exhibition schedule with the St. Louis Cardinals, fresh from two victories over the Athletics, at Avon Park, today. Greenfield and Brandt have been nominated to pitch for the Braves. Judge Fuchs has denied that he will trade Dr. Eddie Farrell, shortstop, to Brooklyn.

MAJOR SEGRAVE TO MAKE TRY THIS AFTERNOON

DAYTONA BEACH, FLORIDA, TO BE SCENE OF THE PERFORMANCE

HOPES TO BETTER 207.55 MILES AN HOUR HELD BY WHITE

Daytona Beach, Fla., March 11.—(UP)—Major H. O. D. Segrave, British automobile driver, broke the world's speed record today when he drove his Irving-Napier machine, Golden Arrow, at an average speed of 231.362 miles an hour here.

The previous record was 207.55 miles an hour, made by J. M. White of Philadelphia, in a Tri-Plex of his own construction.

On his southward run, which was with the wind, the British driver, utilizing a long telescopic sight on the hood of his airplane-like machine to guide his car, made an average of 231.51 miles an hour.

The northbound run, against the wind, was negotiated in 231.21 miles an hour. The average of the two runs—231.362—gave him the world speed championship.

Daytona Beach, Fla., March 11.—Major H. O. D. Segrave, British automobile driver, today made the northward run on the sandy track here at 231.51 miles an hour in his Irving-Napier car Golden Arrow.

He then started on his southbound run which when averaged with the north run, determines whether he broke the world's speed record of 207.55 miles an hour set by J. M. White of Philadelphia in his "Tri-Plex" machine.

After Segrave completes his run, White or a driver he selects, will attempt to drive the giant Tri-Plex to a new record.

Daytona Beach, Fla., March 11.—(UP)—If the long, sandy stretch of beach here retains its present good condition, Major H. O. D. Segrave, English automobile driver, this afternoon will attempt to break the world's automobile speed record of 207.55 miles an hour now held by J. M. White, of Philadelphia.

White, or a driver to be selected by him, also will try for a new record with his Tri-Plex car.

Segrave will drive the Golden Arrow, the Irving-Napier car, which has a theoretical speed of 240 miles an hour. The rivals for speed honors have mutually agreed that Segrave will have the first hour upon the speedway, made hard and smooth by a northeast wind. He will be followed by White, if the latter elects to drive today.

The British driver estimated he

TRAINING CAMP NOTES

St. Petersburg, Fla., March 11.—(UP)—The New York Yankees' new infield combination of Gehrig-Lazzari-Lary-Koenig will get its first hard test in five straight exhibition games this week, starting tomorrow against the Tampa Southeastern league club at Tampa. Col. Jacob Ruppert is here to spend the rest of the training season with his players. Babe Ruth, who has been playing first base for the rookies, probably will go to his right field berth against the Braves Wednesday.

Miami, Fla., March 11.—(UP)—Great pitching by Yerkes, Breckenridge and Walbert enabled the Philadelphia Athletics to break their three-game losing streak and beat the Cincinnati Reds yesterday, 6 to 0. The Reds didn't get a hit until the fifth, and got only one man to third base the whole game.

Laredo, Tex., March 11.—(UP)—A home run by Shanty Hogan and fine pitching by Genewich, Scott and Walker gave the New York Giants a clean sweep in their two-game series with the San Antonio Texas league club here yesterday, 6 to 1.

Tampa, Fla., March 11.—(UP)—With Joe Judge, Goose Goslin and Sam Jones here, the Washington Senators' only missing players today were Paul McCullough, recruit pitcher, and Cliff Bolton, catcher. The Senators beat the Tampa Southeastern league club yesterday, 6 to 5.

Bradenton, Fla., March 11.—(UP)—The Boston Red Sox entered their second week of training today. Ira Flagstead has arrived in camp 25 pounds underweight as the result of influenza.

Avalon, Catalina Island, Calif., Mar. 11.—(UP)—The Chicago Cubs resumed their training today after an even break with the Los Angeles club in two exhibition games. Heavy rains prevented the third game of the series yesterday.

Paso Robles, Calif., March 11.—(UP)—After a two-day layoff, the Pittsburgh Pirates were to resume training today. Rain prevented the exhibition game scheduled yesterday with San Francisco, but the pitchers warmed up on a vacant lot adjoining the hotel.

would have about one chance in ten of coming out of the speed attempt alive.

"I have become a fatalist in this game," he said. "That is, after I have taken all possible precautions with the car, its construction and condition, and have taken all precautions as to beach and wind conditions—after that I am an absolute fatalist. If everything is right, I will try. If I win, I win; if I fail, I fail."

The Golden Arrow is more of a hazard than the Sunbeam, with which he exceeded 200 miles an hour here in previous competition with the White Tri-Plex. Segrave said. He said the new Irving-Napier is much lighter than the giant twin-motored Sunbeam.

YANKEES AND CUBS FAVORITES IN RACES

EVEN MONEY IS OFFERED ON THE N. Y. CLUB

DESPITE FACT THAT NO AMERICAN LEAGUE CLUB HAS WON 4 PENNANTS IN ROW

PRESENCE OF ROGERS HORNSBY GIVES ADDED STRENGTH TO THE CUBS

By GEORGE KIRKSEY
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

New York, March 11.—(UP)—The New York Yankees and Chicago Cubs have been made favorites in the early betting on the major league pennant races.

Despite the fact that no American League club has ever won four pennants in a row, betting commissioners are quoting the Yankees an even money choice to accomplish that feat this season.

The presence of Rogers Hornsby, National League batting champion, with the Cubs has caused Joe McCarthy's team to receive an unprecedented amount of support for a third place team of a year ago. Odds of 3 to 2 are quoted against the Cubs to finish first and 1 to 2 that they finish one-two.

The St. Louis Cardinals, New York Giants and Pittsburgh Pirates are even choice, with odds of 2 1/2 to 1 quoted that they don't win the pennant and even money that they don't finish first or second.

The Philadelphia Athletics are second choice in the American League at odds of 5 to 4. The odds quoted against the St. Louis Browns are 8-1 for first, 5-2 for second and even money for third. The Detroit Tigers are quoted 15-1 shots.

The longest odds are quoted against the Philadelphia Phillies—100 to 1 they don't finish first, 40-1 they don't finish second and 10-1 they don't finish third.

The odds follow:

National League
Club		Odds
Cubs	3-2
Giants	2 1/2-1
Pirates	2 1/2-1
Cardinals	2 1/2-1
Phillies	2 1/2-1
Reds	8-1
Braves	40-1
Robins	40-1
Phillies	100-1
American League
Yankees	even money
Athletics	5-4
Browns	8-1
Tigers	15-1
Senators	30-1
Indians	30-1
White Sox	30-1
Red Sox	40-1

77 UNIVERSITIES TO SEND OVER 800 ATHLETES

TO COMPETE IN 12TH ANNUAL INDOOR RELAY CAR- NIVAL

SPONSORED BY UNIVERSITY OF ILLINOIS SATURDAY AT CHAMPAIGN

Champaign, Ill., March 11.—(UP)—Seventy-seven universities will send more than 800 athletes to compete in the twelfth annual indoor relay carnival of the University of Illinois to be held here Saturday.

The entry list, the largest ever received, includes athletes from every school in the Big Ten, Big Six, and Missouri Valley conferences.

The all-around championship, feature event of the carnival, will find the greatest athletes in the country competing. Among the entries for this event are Barney Berlinger, University of Pennsylvania, Jack McIntosh, Monmouth college, last year's winner; Leo Baldwin, University of Texas; Oscar Smith, Indiana Central, and several others.

The all-around championship consists of the 75 yard dash; shot put, running high jump, pole vault, 75 yard high hurdles, running broad jump and 880 yard run.

Nine university relays will be held during the meet.

MAJOR SEGRAVE TO MAKE TRY THIS AFTERNOON

DAYTONA BEACH, FLORIDA, TO BE SCENE OF THE PER- FORMANCE

HOPES TO BETTER 207.55 MILES AN HOUR HELD BY WHITE

Daytona Beach, Fla., March 11.—(UP)—Major H. O. D. Segrave, British automobile driver, broke the world's speed record today when he drove his Irving-Napier machine, Golden Arrow, at an average speed of 231.362 miles an hour here.

The previous record was 207.55 miles an hour, made by J. M. White of Philadelphia, in a Tri-Plex of his own construction.

Daytona Beach, Fla., March 11.—Major H. O. D. Segrave, British automobile driver, today made the northward run on the sandy track here at 231.51 miles an hour in his Irving-Napier car Golden Arrow.

He then started on his southbound run which when averaged with the north run, determines whether he broke the world's speed record of 207.55 miles an hour set by J. M. White of Philadelphia in his "Tri-Plex" machine.

After Segrave completes his run, White or a driver he selects, will attempt to drive the giant Tri-Plex to a new record.

Daytona Beach, Fla., March 11.—(UP)—If the long, sandy stretch of beach here retains its present good condition, Major H. O. D. Segrave, English automobile driver, this afternoon will attempt to break the world's automobile speed record of 207.55 miles an hour now held by J. M. White, of Philadelphia.

White, or a driver to be selected by him, also will try for a new record with his Tri-Plex car.

Segrave will drive the Golden Arrow, the Irving-Napier car, which has a theoretical speed of 240 miles an hour. Pimples

If you want to get rid of ugly, disgusting pimples in a hurry, try the harmless new remedy, in a convenient tablet form, called Kitagran. It gets rid of the impurities in the blood so quickly that the skin clears up right away—often within 24 hours. You can get Kitagran from Johnson's Pharmacy and leading druggists who will return your money if you are not thoroughly satisfied. —adv

Makes Skin Look Velvety

The skin of youth lies in every box of new wonderful MELLO-GLO Face Powder. The purest powder made—its color is passed by the U. S. Government. A new French process makes it spread more smoothly and prevents large pores. No more shiny nose—it stays on longer. Use MELLO-GLO. Johnson's Pharmacy. —adv

Keep youth longer!

cleanse the system
of poisons

Two of the great enemies to youth and vitality are delayed elimination and intestinal poisons. To keep yourself free from both these common difficulties will help you to stay young.

With the use of Nujol you can do it too. For Nujol absorbs body poisons and carries them off, preventing their absorption by the body. Nujol also softens the waste matter and brings about normal evacuation. It is harmless; contains no drugs or medicine. It won't cause gas or griping pains, or affect the stomach or kidneys. Every corner druggist has Nujol. Make sure you get the genuine. Look for the Nujol bottle with the label on the back that you can read right through the bottle. Don't delay, get Nujol today. —adv
